Superintendent's Highlights

The 1996-97 school year included many in service opportunities for teachers. The increased use of computers in the classroom has added to the need for in service. All students, grades 4-12, will have access to the Internet in the classroom when school commences next fall.

Bonneville High School library is open for public use in the evening hours, allowing patrons and students to use computers and other material during non-school hours.

Middle School teachers were encouraged to work as teams this year. Additional planning time for teachers was provided. They had a great deal of success.

Progress Towards Meeting District Goals

1996-97 Goals	Progress
Develop and implement a comprehensive K-12 Curriculum Adoption Committee, and adoption plan	During the 1996-97 school year, elementary and secondary curriculum leaders were selected and participated in a K-12 textbook adoption process, selecting materials in the subject areas of English, Speech, Journalism, Foreign Languages, Spelling, Art, and Drama.
Expand the technology capabilities in elementary and secondary schools	We developed our wide-area Network Spread Spectrum Wireless technology in all buildings within our district. Our schools now have access to the Internet, and E-mail. We have improved and updated the high school and middle school computer labs, and have increased the number of computers in each of the elementary schools.

Our district expects and encourages its personnel to develop professional skills and competencies

The educational level and experience acquired by staff members has dramatically increased over the last two years, participation in district staff development has been strongly supported.
